- employment
- sale of goods & credit
- competition law and consumer protection
- regulatory work
- trust litigation
- family law
- human rights

Chambers & Partners - Legal Publishers say:

Noted for its focus on competition and employment law, this fledgling firm's expansion into wider civil litigation has been a success in the eyes of commentators.

As a boutique outfit, the practice is "responsive, efficient and its charges are modest in comparison with some. It's a small firm and the partners are always accessible - which can't always be said of their larger competitors."

Ex-barrister Timothy Hanson is one half of the group. Peers respect his forthrightness, while colleague Mark Renouf receives plaudits for his non-contentious work
